This year flue-cured tobacco growers will have to certify not only that they did not use DDT and TDE, but also Toxaphene and Endrin.

Use only recommended pesticides.

I quizzed a couple of economists the other day about the price of corn this fall. One said, "In the midwest $1.50 to $1.75." A Virginia economist said, "It ought to be $2.25.

There are many economists saying that $5.00 soybeans are only a temporary price. Soybeans in storage are four times greater than last year.

Brazil soybean production is expected to rise from 5 million metric tons to 9.

Peruvian fishmeal is expected to go from .9 million tons to 1.35.

All of these factors will have an impace on U. S. soybean prices.

Tennessee research shows that a silo roof adds much to the overall performance of silo unloaders. More than twice as many unloader malfunctions were experienced with the no-roof silo unloader as with the roof silo-unloader.

Condition of wall coatings in both silos were also researched. After 3 years of use the ratings were: cement plaster troweled – excellent; epoxy troweled – spot peeled; epoxy brushed – spot peeled; cement plaster brushed – extensively eroded. At the end of 10 years, only cement plaster troweled was still in good condition, and all other coatings had extensively failed.

Cattle lice population can "explode" at this time of year. There are pour-ons, sprays, or dust bag treatments (forced use) that are effective.

Pick up a copy of external parasite control of cattle from this office.

Some parts of the state report severe infestations of aphid damage on small grain. These insects transmit several viruses that severly reduce grain production.

The recommended phosphate insecticides are not effective at temperatures less than 70°.

Someone pointed out that at least theoretically cows could solve the energy crisis. The methane gas belched by 25 Holsteins could heat a home for a year. The problem is tapping and storing the fuel.

There were some interesting reports presented at the 1974 Illinois Pork Industry Day. I have capsuled a few of these points:

Lysine is an essential amino acid in swine nutrition. As a general rule, 100 pounds of 44 percent protein soybean meal can be replaced in each ton of ration with 2 pounds of L-lysine and 98 pounds of corn without affecting performance. There is one exception to this. Very young pigs, under 30 pounds, will tend to have about 5 percent poorer feed efficiency when this substitute is made.

Some basic research has been conducted using injectible prostaglandin F2 Alpha to cause sows to farrow 24 to 36 hours after injection. Controlled farrowing is a distinct possibility. If details can be worked out, it would be possible to have a high percentage of the animals to farrow between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. on two selected days of the week (say Tuesday and Friday).

Reproduction efficiency is important in all aspects of animal agriculture. If a gilt produces her first litter at 16 months of age, there is much more time, money, and feed invested in her first litter than in a gilt producing a litter at 11 months of age. The breeding herd with only 50 per cent pregancies, compared to 75 per cent, also has a higher cost per litter. A boar that sires small litters and settles a small proportion of sows is more costly than one siring large litters. A gilt that produces a litter of one or two pigs has cost her owner as much as a gilt that produces a litter of ten pigs. Sows that produce a litter every 11 months cost about as much as sows that produce a litter every six months.

Mating each gilt at least twice to different boars will reduce the chances of losses from poor timing and an infertile boar. Heat stress on the boar for a few days to a few weeks before mating can also have a very adverse effect on his fertility.

Profitable hog production under modern conditions is the most complex of all livestock and poultry enterprises. Hence, the rewards for managerial skill and diligence will be the greatest, too.

Janet Booth

Elected Regional Historian

At the 23rd Longwood Regional meeting of the Future Business Leaders of America at Longwood College on March 8th Janet Booth was elected Regional Historian.

A member of the Appomattox Chapter, Janet is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Booth of Spout Spring.

The Appomattox Chapter was represented by thirty-three members and four advisors. Beginning at 9 o'clock and continuing until 11 o'clock the students were involved in various activities or contests. The business session was called to order promptly at 11 o'clock by Julie Moore, Regional President. Morning announcements and campaign speeches were presented at this time. The meeting was adjourned for lunch. Voting delegates from each chapter were given this time to cast their vote for next year's officers.

offset and all the changes which make newspaper publishing a new ball game. Beck adjusted and merits a chorus of No. 88. Never afraid of work for a good cause, never afraid of "printer's ink" she gets a lot accomplished and still finds time for The Rescue Squad. Step forward and take a bow. And there are salutes for the entire staff at The Time-Virginian, all striving to bring YOU the best newspaper possible. Take time to read the ads, too, for they make it possible. Thanks for reading and seeya next week.

At 1 o'clock the afternoon session was called to order. The winners of the various contest were announced at this time along with the 1975-76 Regional officers. Those receiving awards from the Appomattox Chapter were: Essay contest, Sheila Franklin, Superior Rating; Bulletin Board, Outstanding; Yearbook, Outstanding; Yearbook, Outstanding; Parliamentary Law Team, 3rd Place; Miss FBLA, Julie Moore, Third Place. The Bulletin Board and Yearbook will go to the State meeting to compete on state level. Janet Booth from the Appomattox Chapter was elected Regional Historian for the 1975-76 session.

The Appomattox Chapter provided the entertainment for the afternoon session. The "Cloverettes", which consist of Cindy Guill, Charlene Rush, Debbie Rush and Mary Parris, provided the entertainment and received a standing ovation from the 500 members.

Pam Watson and Nancy Litchford received two of our most coveted awards. Pam received a silver tray for becoming a KOPS (Keep Off Pounds Sensibly). This award was given because she has reached her weight goal. Pam is our first KOPS and we are very proud of her.

Nancy Litchford was our "best loser" of the year and she is truly a model for others to follow. She has done a marvelous job.

If you would like to lose weight as these two girls have done, come to our meetings, every Monday night at 7 p.m. in the New Branch of the Farmers National Bank, Triangle Plaza. We sympathize with your problem and we would really like to help you. Hope to see you there soon!
